

EYES: Supposedly colorblind, generally farsighted but often requiring "vision" correction.

BRAIN: Prone to frequent dizzy spells, especially during debates, primaries, caucuses and extended editions of "Hardball with Chris Matthews."

NOSE: Highly sensitive to familiar "fishy" smells, especially in Florida and Ohio counties.

EAR: Chronically bent from fielding incessant phone calls from Clinton camp, Obama camp and Zogby International.

FINGER: Permanently extended in upright position in attempt to detect which way the wind is blowing.

MOUTH: Salivating over potential payback for vote—e.g., ambassadorship, Cabinet post and Lincoln Bedroom overnight.

SHOULDERS: Broad among Obama supporters, padded among Clintonites, in all cases significantly bruised from countless "friendly" arms being draped over them.

HEART: Enlarged among Obama supporters, but often susceptible to "break," "ache" and "burn."

NECK: Persistently plagued by "royal" pain from being repeatedly asked who they are going to support.

ARM: Constantly twisted.

SPINE: Ramrod-straight in some, slight curvature in others, nonexistent in many.

BUTTOCKS: (See NECK.)

STOMACH: Cast-iron among Clinton supporters (with help from daily doses of Maalox).

KNEES: Congenitally weak and particularly vulnerable to "capping" by slighted candidates, angry primary voters and Maureen Dowd.

"ACHILLES" HEEL: Being wined and dined; believing inflated sense of self-importance; accepting token "expressions of appreciation" (for women: Jimmy Choos; for men: gift certificates to Emperors' Club VIP).

FEET: Sometimes firmly planted; more often in MOUTH (above).

